EQUALITY

Accelerate Prosperity in a new global initiative of MINNA aimed at supporting enterprise start-ups and small business in need of acceleration. The focus is on women and youth (age 16-30) in rural towns, where economic opportunities often remain insufficient. It also targets entrepreneurs with low-income earning, the unemployed and those who have not completed primary or secondary education.

The initiative combines lean startup business modeling methodologies, mentorship, angel investment networks, digital deal flow platform, blended learning and gender-lens and youth-lens approaches.

In most cases, the services reinforce the Network's wider efforts to address constraints to business growth in rural settings (e.g investments in energy, telecoms and infrastructure) and work on upgrading promising value chains as well as employable and soft skills. These investments reduce business risks and expand opportunities for youth entrepreneurship and employment.
